What is claimed is:

- 1. A method of controlling a combination washer drier, comprising steps of:
- inputting an operational command;
- performing washing and rinsing steps according to the operational command;
- simultaneously performing a dewatering step and a first drying step after completion
- of the watering and rinsing steps; and
- performing a second drying step after completion of the dewatering step.
- 1 2. The method as claimed in claim 1, wherein a pump, a fan, a heater, and a
- drum motor are driven during the first drying step.
- The method as claimed in claim 1, wherein a pump, a fan, a heater, a drum
- motor, and a supply valve are driven during the second drying step.